Nixon Breathes New Life Into Anti-ABM Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has breathed new life into the anti-ABM coalition by emphasizing expansion of the Safeguard defense system to guard against a possible Red Chinese attack.

As a result, Senate opponents are prepared to make an issue of the President's change in reasoning.

Nixon has resurrected the argument used by the Johnson administration for its Sentinel ABM and dropped some he used last year for Safeguard.

"It leaves us dizzy," one key aide said after Nixon's announcement at his news conference Friday night, adding "I don't know how many times the rationale can be shifted and still have any sense of reality."

Nixon said the ABM expansion he is seeking this year involves area defense as well as the defense of Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) sites that was at issue in the 1969 fight over the first two ABM sites.

The site defense aspect was a major difference between Safeguard and the Johnson administration's Sentinel ABM that emphasized area defense, especially relating to the nation's major cities.

Although details of the new ABM expansion are to be revealed later by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, defense of at least one city—Washington—is likely to be included.

Opponents were resigned to waging a token fight if the administration merely went ahead with protection of more ICBM or bomber bases.

Both arguments for the ABM were outlined last March by the President and top defense officials.

But the fact that funds were only being asked to protect the two ICBM bases had the effect of playing down the main rationale for an area defense, the potential Red Chinese threat.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield charged Saturday that "the President has resurrected the Chinese threat which he said, about a year ago, if I remember correctly, he 'couldn't buy'."

Mansfield also questioned how an ABM expansion would affect the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) with the Soviet Union which reopen in April.

Nixon's $200.8 Billion Budget Called Inadequate By Critics

Surplus Of $1.3 Billion Worries Economic Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon unveiled today a $200.8 billion fiscal 1971 budget he vows will be balanced and anti-inflationary—but which congressional critics already have called inadequate to stem the upsurge of prices.

In sending to Congress the first budget message which is wholly his own, Nixon projects a scant surplus of $1.3 billion. Revenues will rise only $2.7 billion from this year.

The slender surplus was reached only after an 11th-hour government-wide search for economies. It is a token of Nixon's determination to hold the fiscal line against inflation.

Economists worried But economists consider the surplus too small to have any significant impact one way or another.

The budget totals for the government year starting July 1 became known last week by the premature publication of Nixon's economic report to Congress, and they were immediately criticized as "pitifully inadequate" to curb inflation by Sen. William Proxmire, (D-Wis.), chairman of the Senate House economic committee.

The minisurplus is "an invitation to further inflation," Proxmire said. He called for much deeper cuts in defense spending, although the disclosed total for planned overall defense outlays—$73.6 billion—is a $5.8 billion cut from the official estimate for fiscal 1970.

Mansfield Objects Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield objected that the claimed defense reduction is synthetic.

He said although Congress reduced Nixon's 1970 defense budget by $5.6 billion, the administration ignored this and used its original 1970 budget figure to show an illusory reduction.

Actuals. Actually the Nixon request is an increase from 1970, Mansfield said.

Other Congress members expressed more interest in how Nixon arrived at his totals—the details and specifics of his spending cutbacks and new programs plans—than in the grand totals.

The black ink margin of only about one-half of one per cent of the record spending total is known to be much smaller than Nixon wanted.

His economic strategy called for substantial surpluses; its long-range aim is to free the country's capital resources for private investment and growth by curtailing the government's frequent trips to the financial markets for borrowing.

Bulging costs of materials and services, combined with a squeeze on revenues caused by the new tax reform law and the business slowdown, have frustrated this strategy for the coming fiscal year.

But Nixon predicted nevertheless in his news conference Friday in his budget will be "a major blow in stopping the inflationary psychology."

MIAMI (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, on trial in Chicago with six others charged with conspiracy in last summer's riots during the National Democratic Convention, said here Sunday night he thinks the trial will end in a hung jury but that he and his colleagues will get 3-7 years for contempt.

Hoffman was shouted down several times by small factions in the nearly 2,000 University of Miami students and others who heard his speech.

Standing on an unlighted open-air patio at the university student union, Hoffman said Chicago Judge Julius Hoffman had ordered he and other defendants "not to talk about the trial or we might be thrown in jail."

At one point, Hoffman's speech was interrupted when dissidents threw bags of flour, one of them smoking, onto the stage. Also thrown towards Hoffman was a tomato and an orange. He was not hit.

Hoffman said he was being paid $2,000 for his speech by the university and that the money would go to a legal defense fund to help defer expenses of the Chicago trial.

Hoffman said he had to be back in Chicago when the trial resumes Monday morning.

ST. CLAIR (AP)—Michigan Republicans still want former Gov. George Romney to be their candidate for the U.S. Senate against Philip A. Hart, the two-term Democratic incumbent.

Gov. William G. Milliken has pledged to make it his personal responsibility to find out once and for all whether Romney, now President Nixon's housing and urban development secretary, or his wife, Lenore, actually is or is not willing to run.

The 300-member special Republican leadership conference plans to meet again on Feb. 21 in Lansing to review a list of 25 prospects for the nomination.

Their names were chalked on a blackboard at a weekend strategy held in St. Clair Saturday.

The list ranges over a variety of credentials — an astronaut, a former automobile executive, educator, bankers and legislators.

But the Romneys were the first to be proposed, and even those prepared to spend as much as $250,000 to run themselves agree that there would be no contest if either George or Lenore Romney would run.

In the event the Romneys convince party officials they are not interested, party workers rate someone of the Michigan GOP Congressional delegation as having the best chance at the nomination.

Reps. Donald Riegle of Flint and James Harvey of Saginaw were proposed immediately after the Romneys at Saturday's meeting.

"Ellenburg and other policemen received the money, Burns said, to protect a notorious abortion mill... which grossed $250,000 a year," the Plain Dealer reported. The abortion mill was alleged to be controlled by the Mafia.

Ellenburg, a retired Detroit police inspector, had been safety director of Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., for about a year before he was named police chief in Cleveland last week.

He was not personally available for comment.

"As of this moment, these charges are not substantiated," Stokes said in a television broadcast. "They are the charges of a man who admits being an errand boy for the Mafia, who is also admittedly under the influence of drugs, and the so-called charges relate to occurrences that happened over six years ago."

Stokes Shrugs Off Mafia Ties Of Police Chief

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes said Sunday that allegations of "Mafia connections" involving newly appointed police chief William P. Ellenburg were unfounded. He said Ellenburg "categorically denied" them.

Highlights Of Spending Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are textual highlights of President Nixon's budget sent to Congress today:

I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for 1971. This is particularly necessary because the cost of living has been rising rapidly for the past five years.

I propose to restructure, reduce or terminate programs that are ineffective or poorly designed and those where the original need has long since vanished.

Looking to the future, both our strategy and forces must be designed to honor our international commitments and to insure our national security. We must make realistic and continuing assessments of the programs required to support these objectives.

One of the most important new initiatives that I am proposing for the first time in this budget is to enhance the quality of life... Our environment is becoming increasingly unpleasant and unhealthful. We are hampered by polluted air, contaminated rivers and lakes and inadequate recreation facilities. Despite current budget stringency, we must find a way to move aggressively on these problems now.

Revenue Sharing Initiated Federal revenue sharing with state and local governments is one vital element of our decentralization effort.

I place high priority on expanding the use of manpower programs as a means of getting people off welfare rolls and into productive management.

The budget for 1971 provides about $1.3 billion for crime reduction, nearly double the outlays in 1969. This budget represents a first step in a comprehensive program for improving all parts of our criminal justice system—at every level of government.

Housing Needs Met The budget includes a substantial effort to help meet our housing needs. In 1971, over 1.9 million low and moderate income families will be living in good homes and apartments because costs have been kept within their reach through the federal government actions. Moreover, we are requesting more authority for new commitments in 1971 to help provide almost 600,000 additional housing units for such families.

Consistent with other national priorities, we shall seek to extend our capability in space—both manned and unmanned. I intend to do this with total outlays smaller than in 1970... Our actions will make it possible to begin plans for a manned expedition to Mars.

Midnight Mass March Ends Up In U-M Violence ANN ARBOR (AP) — A midnight mass march in support of Ann Arbor's militant Black Berets ended early Sunday with the smashing of windows and display cases at the University of Michigan Reserve Officers Training Corps headquarters.

The march by about 3,000 demonstrators was in support of the "Ann Arbor Six"—six members of the Black Berets who were arrested after a confrontation with police last fall. They face assault charges in the case.

The marchers walked from the U-M campus to the Washtenaw County Jail, then returned to the campus and attempted to enter North Hall, the ROTC headquarters.

When they found the building locked, several demonstrators began throwing rocks, smashing 40 windows in five show-cases inside the building.

Police said the demonstration dispersed when university security guards arrived. There were no arrests.

Today's Chuckle "Good heavens," said the sweet young girl, "70 isn't old for a millionaire!"

Budget Costing Every Citizen Almost $1,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every man, woman and child in the United States will have an average of almost $1,000 committed in the new federal budget.

The $200.8 billion spending figure, divided by the 205 million people the government expects the 1970 census to show for the nation's population, yields a share of $979 each.

Of that, $358 will go for national defense, $17 for space programs, $39 for education and manpower, $245 for income security programs and $86 for interest on the national debt. Smaller amounts will go for a multitude of other items.

The House and Senate are to convene at 8 p.m. tonight.

Milliken's budget specifics remain a mystery until they wind up on desks of legislators Thursday is the target date.

But the governor told lawmakers in his recent "State of the State" message that his recommendations would necessitate a $143 million revenue increase, no mean feat in a legislative session that stands shoulder-to-shoulder with looming fall elections.

The governor also said the budget would be some $60 million lower than tentatively expected because of a possible economic slowdown and because of failure to pass tax bills during the fall session.

Using those factors, as well as current revenue, expected surplus and projected increases, some capitol observers pegged the total at about $1.75 billion—nearly a quarter-billion dollars over this year's spending.

Any battle will come when legislators try to raise the figures Milliken proposes.

"The greatest danger we face right now in the budget is the danger that the Legislature may decide to add programs here and there and the next place," Milliken told newsmen last week.

Such action, he said, would "inflate the budget to the point where it would be a very unsound budget for this state to adopt."

"I would point out to the Legislature," Milliken declared emphatically, "that every time they add a dollar, they're going to have to find the revenue to match that dollar."

Meanwhile, the House already is working on one of the Milliken budget bills, a nearly $1 billion state school aid bill.

The House disposed of the controversial question of public funds for private and parochial schools last week—but only on a temporary basis. A tight 56-54 vote reversed an earlier House stand and supported inclusion of parochial aid in the bill, as Milliken wanted.

But opponents are still trying to delete the provision, or at least water it down before a final House vote on the bill.

Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, tacked on an amendment last week that would limit 1970-71 parochial spending to $22 million, the sum Milliken's budget experts said could fill a formula incorporated in the bill.

'War' Not Won, But, Gov. Milliken Faces New Tussle

LANSING (AP) — With the parochial aid and education reform wars yet to be won, Gov. William Milliken heads into another battlefield this week, presenting his 1970-71 budget recommendations to reelection-conscious lawmakers.

Ground Hog Freezes, Doesn't See Shadow

The ground hog in the Escanaba area didn't see his shadow early this morning, but don't bet there won't be six more weeks of winter anyway.

The sun didn't peep through the clouds until mid-morning in the area and by then, if Mr. Ground Hog ventured above the 17 inches of snow on the ground, he probably suffered frost bitten whiskers and decided to be prudent and sleep another six weeks.

Planes Skid

DETROIT (AP) — Two North Central Airlines prop-jets skidded off Michigan runways last night.

No one was reported injured.

Flight 344 with 24 passengers and three crewmen aboard apparently suffered a landing gear malfunction while coming into Detroit Airport at 10:18 p.m. It skidded 160 feet off the runway. The flight originated in the Houghton County Airport in the Upper Peninsula and had landed at Escanaba, Menominee, Green Bay, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

A second mishap, this involving a Chicago-originated flight at the Houghton airport, was blamed by officials on strong winds.

Officials said none of the 22 passengers on board was injured.

Authorities said an engine, propeller and wing of the plane were damaged in the accident.

Early Spring?

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — It'll be an early spring this year, according to Punxsutawney Phil, the weather-forecasting groundhog. He declined for the first time in 20 years to look at his shadow, thus decreeing an end to winter weather.

As tradition has it, if Phil emerges from his burrow and sees his shadow, he returns to wait out six more weeks of winter.

The legend says that if the ground hog sees his shadow when he emerges from his winter dwelling on the second day of February he'll be frightened back into his hole, indicating another six weeks of winter. There was no sun in the area early today — plenty of blowing snow and clouds blotted it out — but any self-respecting ground hog would be hard

North Central Traffic Gains

North Central Airlines is starting 1970 with an impressive gain in passenger traffic at Escanaba. It is reported by Pete Zimmer, North Central manager.

In January the total number of passengers on and off at Escanaba was 2,156, a gain of 887 over the same month a year ago. The totals for January for the past three years: 1968 — 1,381; 1969 — 1,289; 1970 — 2,156.

Air mail in pounds for January this year and last went from 2,768 pounds to 3,944; and first class mail from 2,891 to 5,015 pounds.

Air express for the month went up only slightly, from 3,536 to 3,686 pounds; while air freight jumped from 13,326 to 19,664 pounds, North Central reports.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said winds today would gust between 20 and 30 miles per hour and coupled with temperature readings of 10 degrees or below that puts the "chill" in the air at between 25 and 35 below zero.

If the wind continues to gust up to 30 miles per hour and temperature readings fall to 15 below zero tonight as predicted, the chill factor would drop to about 71 below zero.

Schools Closed

The high winds coupled with light snowfall forced several rural school districts to close their doors this morning. Closed this morning were Rapid River, Perkins, Big Bay de Noc and Trenary schools.

Weathermen said snow and snow squalls were expected to continue throughout the day before diminishing to flurries tonight.

New Kidney Is Birthday Gift

Mr. and Mrs. Victor VanEffen, 223 N. 18th St. received word Saturday that their son, Harold Johnston of Kalamazoo, received a kidney transplant Friday, Jan. 30 at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, from a donor yet unknown.

Johnston had a kidney ailment for about 10 years and the last four years he has been in an out of hospitals. In August of 1968 he was rushed from Kalamazoo to St. Michael's Hospital, Milwaukee to be put on a kidney machine, which saved his life. There was no kidney machine in Michigan available for him at the time.

He lived in Milwaukee for about a year, and while there doctors removed the diseased kidney. Johnston and his family moved back to Kalamazoo Aug. 23, 1969 when the Kalamazoo Kiwanis Club furnished him with an "at home" kidney machine.

While in Milwaukee the Johnstons had learned how to run and take care of a kidney machine.

Johnston called home last evening and said he was getting along fine. He talked with his parents, his brother, James Johnston and his sister, Mrs. Janice Stenberg. Johnston is celebrating his 30th birthday today.

Many Economists Saw Shadow Today

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Many economists saw their shadows today.

Rising from piles of statistics, they noted that the very sunshine that warmed the nests of Americans for several years was now brewing a dark and troubling storm. If not frightened, they were disturbed.

The bad news, they noted, is a compound of an economic expansion that is slowing almost to a halt simultaneously with an acceleration in the rate of price increases—a somewhat unforeseen and completely unsought complexity of factors.

A slowdown is far more tolerable if prices decline at the same time. In this slowdown, any prospect of price stability is apparently a distant one. The consensus seems to be that few declines will occur for several months.

This means that while the ability of Americans to maintain their standards is being weakened—in the extreme, by factors such as layoffs—the evil of rising prices is making their job even more difficult.

It is easy, however, to look at the shadow and forget that it couldn't be cast without the sun. There are bright areas of the picture:

More Americans are better off than ever before; unemployment is near what some economists feel is the minimum; most goods are in abundant supply; the middle class continues to expand with graduates from the lower ranks.

But there are great patches of grey:

While goods are available, services that range from garbage collecting to medical aid often are lacking; the environment has been polluted by the uninhibited belchings of prosperity; some cities are decaying.

And there exists a great conflict that threatens to cloud the bright areas and blacken the dark:

The rising demand for money remains on a collision course with a supply the government feels must not grow if the battle with inflation is to be won at all.

This demand for money is not simply for the satisfaction of luxurious appetites. It is for decent housing, better factories, slum control, the cleaning of rivers, better education, more competitive businesses, defense.

However, at this dizzying economic height, a peak that began with an ascent from a trough early in the 1960s, there seemingly is not enough strength in the economy to correct the deficiencies. Inflation has sapped it.

The antidote to inflation is to reduce demand, or more precisely, to thwart the ability to make demands on the economy by taking away the means, which is money.

In the present environment, however, the needs obviously are so great that they continue fighting. The tug-of-war for the available money is intense: to fight a war, to win contracts, to buy cars—by government, business and individuals.

As the scrap evolves, interest rates—which are the prices of money—are soaring to all-time highs, with these results:

Municipalities cannot afford to borrow for social needs; the housing industry, unable to compete for money at such high rates, is failing to meet its

IT'S AN OAR FISH, one of only five known to have washed ashore in the last 100 years, this one at Leo Carillo Beach in the Los Angeles area. The 250-pound 14-footer lost four feet of tail to a shark, apparently. The oar fish lives in depths of 1,200 feet. ## Chicken 'Hot Dogs' On University Menu

By JACQUELINE KORONA

EAST LANSING (AP) — Put a chicken in that roll—a Bird-Dog!

That's what Michigan State University calls the white-red meat hot dogs they've handed out to more than 1,500 persons this year.

The chicken hot dogs, sometimes made with a bit of turkey too, were put together by a Grand Rapids meat producing firm, in conjunction with MSU. Packages of bird-dogs weighing about a half-pound each went to persons attending the Michigan Agricultural Conference Legislative Dinner last month and to those at the Michigan Press Association's All-Michigan Dinner Saturday.

"They were great," says one recipient. "When they were cooked, they stuck out both ends of the hot dog buns—plumped up real good."

"We've been working on this idea for some time—15 years or so," says Dr. Howard Zindel, chairman of the MSU Poultry Science Department. "Now that the federal government has passed a ruling that up to 15 per cent poultry meat may be incorporated in hot dogs and sausage, we decided to try it."

But, Zindel notes, the product cannot legally be sold in Michigan.

State laws concerning comminuted (ground) meat products allow sausage products made solely from poultry but do not permit the mixture of poultry meat with beef, pork, lamb or mutton in sausage products.

"Chicken sausage or turkey sausage, to be legal in Michigan, must be made without beef, pork, lamb or mutton added," notes a State Agriculture Department memorandum.

"Such products must be labeled 'chicken sausage,' 'turkey sausage' or whatever the true facts indicate."

Sen. Gary Byker, R-Hudsonville, is trying to change that by amending the law to conform to federal standards. They permit 15 per cent poultry meat, including the normal ratio of skin, in products formerly limited to be made from beef, pork, lamb, mutton or goats without declaring the presence on the label.

The Michigan Allied Michigan Poultry Industry, recognizing another market for "spent pullets," backs the move.

The pullets, birds who've gone through the normal 14-month laying period and are "worn out" to the point they no longer lay eggs, have been used almost solely in soup stock to this point, Zindel says.

With a change in Michigan standards, he adds, the state's poultrymen may be able to collect 10-12 cents a pound for the "salvage" chickens instead of the 5-6 cents they get now.

"This might give more competition to the soup people," Zindel says, "and it could be more economical for Mrs. Consumer, since chicken may prove less expensive than the red meat now put into comminuted meat products."

The Michigan Farm Bureau also supports the proposed standards change, and the Agriculture Department maintains a "neutral position."

Opposition to the change could come from the livestock industry, which did not back the federal change because it could mean a cut in the amount of meat their own producers sell.

Senate Agriculture Chairman Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, plans a public hearing on the bill later in the legislative session.

Legalized Betting Seen Solving State Problems

By LARRY KURTZ

LANSING (AP) — Pick up a phone. Place a bet with your friendly, state-licensed bookie. Help Michigan pay its bills and fight crime.

That's the idea behind a proposal by Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, who notes that off-track betting on the horses is a government money-maker in several countries.

If Michigan licensed a group of its own bookies—"pari-mutuel agents" in the bill's terminology—Montgomery says it might bring the state some $40 million a year in rakeoffs.

End Of Bookies?

At the same time, he claims, such a system would drive a lot of illegal bookies out of business. What would it be like to be a state bookie?

"It's one job I might give up my house seat for," chuckles the gray-haired, 60-year-old Detroit legislator, who has served in the lower chamber for a dozen years.

Montgomery wants to take a first-hand look at how the system operates in Australia. It would cost the state a bundle—perhaps $20,000, based on a trip by 10 legislators. There was a big howl over that recently.

Won't Push Trips

However, Montgomery says he won't push the trip if the bill's prospects are dim. And he says now that a three-man contingent would be enough.

He knows that many people shudder at the thought of the state getting involved in off-track betting.

"A lot of church groups are automatically frozen in opposition without even studying it," Montgomery says, "but the betting is going on anyway."

He says the state may as well muscle in.

How do other legislators feel about it?

Support Noted

Montgomery says that while he hasn't taken a deep reading yet, he has detected some support.

"I haven't run into anybody yet who considers it a hair-brained idea," he says.

The bill, introduced late last year, is assigned to the state affairs committee.

Basically, this is how it would work:

The State Racing Commissioner would license up to 500 agents—Montgomery says he picked the figure out of the air—to accept wagers from the adult public on races at Michigan tracks.

2 Per Cent Charge

All bets would have to be placed at least 20 minutes before post time. The agent could accept only cash transactions. That means the bettor either would have to deliver the money in person when making the bet or, if doing it by phone, have enough on deposit with the agent to cover it.

Stamp Hearing

LANSING (AP) — A House committee will hold a public hearing Feb. 10 at Lansing on proposed legislation to regulate trading stamp companies. Rep. Frank Wierzbicki, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Committee on Consumers and Agriculture, called the hearing. He said there are three proposals before his committee to license and regulate trading stamp companies.

Classified Ads Cost Little, But Do A Big Job!

The agent would charge 2 per cent of each wager for his commission, with a minimum charge of 25 cents, and out of that would have to pay for all his overhead.

Montgomery says this commission charge would discourage illegal bookies from simply carrying on their business through state agents.

The state would get a 10 per cent cut of the gross off-track business, as opposed to the 8 per cent it gets on thoroughbreds and 5 per cent on trotters.

He comes up with a $40 million take for the state this way: the 4 million people of New South Wales bet nearly $200 million through off-track shops last year. Michigan, with twice as many people, might do $400 million worth of business through agents. The state's 10 per cent would come to $40 million—less expenses.

High Expenses Seen

But these expenses might be high, to insure safeguards.

As Montgomery envisions it, agents around the state would transmit individual bets to the tracks by computer or other sophisticated device. There, agents' men in a special room would place the bets individually—not in a lump sum. Meticulous records would be kept.

The state, of course, would have to monitor and audit the system to make sure the agents didn't do any illegal bookmaking on the side.

Montgomery says this can be taken care of through proper record-keeping and auditing.

Totals Flashed Out

The first flash-up of wagering totals at the various tracks would reflect the bets placed through off-track agents. That way, the track patrons would know the off-track score right away.

Strict qualification requirements would be put on the agent applicants. Each agent would have to put up a performance bond, and the racing commission would have the power to revoke licenses. Any city could enact ordinances prohibiting state bookies.

In sum, says Montgomery, "this is a serious proposal for additional revenue and a way to perform a social good by taking the money out of the hands of bookmakers."

Shirley Unconvinced

But State Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley is unconvinced.

In the first place, he says he doesn't like to think of horse racing simply in terms of gambling and money.

"If we're going to have horse racing simply as a supplier of revenue," he says, "then perhaps this is the answer. But we like to think of it as the 'sport of kings.' Something like this would downgrade the image."

Shirley says there is far more to racing than simply the payoffs—for instance, he points to skill in breeding and to the pure enjoyment of watching a horse race.

Regulations Problem

While conceding that Montgomery's proposal might be a way of cutting down on illegal bookmaking, he argues that in the area of regulation "there would be more problems than you can shake a stick at."

No doubt some agents would have trouble making money. It would take a lot of business at 2 per cent commission to cover expenses and wind up with a decent profit.

But even before that, it would be a case of changing attitudes.

For many people, the stock market is nothing more than a gamble. But it enjoys far more respectable status in this country than does a $2 win ticket.

Program Backed

Overseas, Montgomery says, they call the government-licensed betting transactions "investment and dividend."

Bettors under Montgomery's plan would have to be careful to establish confidential codes with their state bookies. Otherwise, as Montgomery puts it, "somebody else might try to bet all your money as a prank."

Montgomery—who prefers the term "legal bookies" instead of "legalized bookies"—says he will begin sounding out committee members soon. One who was asked about the bill recently didn't even know it was in his committee.

Telephone Cheaper

As to the furor over spending state money for a legislative junket to Australia, the telephone would be a much cheaper means of communication.

Asked about that possibility, Montgomery said "I suppose you could do it by phone, if you could be sure of getting to the knowledgeable people."

A round-trip flight for one person would cost more than $1,000. An hour-long phone call to Australia? Less than $200.

Sears Office Set For Grand Opening

Sears Roebuck & Co., with a view to greater convenience and expanding service to its customers, is moving to a new location at 2425 Ludington St., it is announced by John Good, manager.

Sears has outgrown its present location at 1013 Ludington St., where it has been for the past 14 years.

"We will have approximately 7,500 square feet of floor space in the building which we are leasing at 2425 Ludington," said Good. "This compares to about 2,600 feet on the first floor where we are at present."

The grand opening is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 4, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. with regular store hours thereafter — 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays.

The Sears catalog sales office in its new one-story building will have the space to bring a number of additional services to the public — plus the convenience of a 28-car parking lot, Good pointed out.

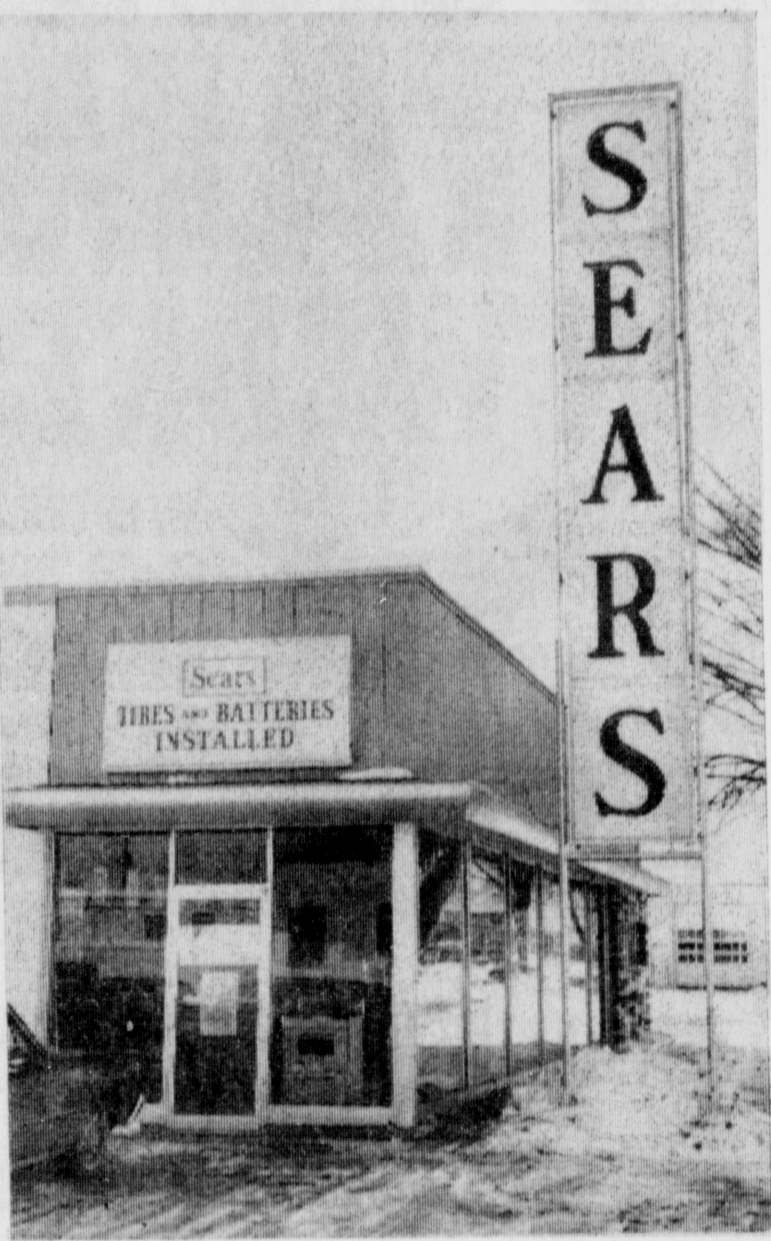

"We will be able to offer a much larger selection of appliances, Sears will stock and install tires and batteries at the new location, and our department for servicing appliances and television sets will be expanded," said Good, who has been Sears manager at Escanaba since December, 1964.

The catalog sales office itself will have conveniences made possible by the additional space and the modernization at the new site. For example, the phone room is larger and is sound proofed for quiet and greater comfort.

Sears has spent several thousands of dollars in adapting the building to its special needs, with separate rooms and areas for phoning, for servicing, for television viewing and selection, and other changes to make the catalog office one of the company's finest.

Good reported that with the relocation and the expansion comes an increase in employment by Sears, with seven additional persons hired to bring the total here to 23.

The public is invited to attend the grand opening on Wednesday, Feb. 4, and is reminded of the hours — 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

THIS IS SEARS NEW catalog sales office at 2425 Ludington St., which will be open for business beginning Thursday following a grand opening at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Greatly enlarged floor space plus ample parking are available at the new location. (Daily Press Photo)

Need More Donors:

Blood Provides Many Vital Uses

The blood that donors give to the Red Cross Badger Blood Bank is used for many additional purposes beside transfusions, the Red Cross reports.

That is why donors are encouraged to visit the bloodmobile when it comes to Delta County this week.

The bloodmobile will be at the James T. Jones School in Gladstone from 3 to 7 p.m. Wednesday; and at the Teamsters building in Escanaba on Thursday 2:30 to 7:30 and on Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Here are some of the many uses of blood derivatives:

Quick frozen fresh plasma, kept in a freezer, is rushed to control the painful bruising and swelling that accompanies the injury to a hemophilic child. Last year the Badger Red Cross sent out 496 units for use in such cases.

High blood pressure and anemia needs a higher hemoglobin level. Concentrated red cells (with the plasma removed so the high blood pressure is not increased) does the trick. Hospitals received 818 units of red cells last year.

Fibrinogen, just a trace of concentrated clotting element in blood, controls hemorrhaging. Badger Red Cross blood center supplied 78 units last year.

Small pox vaccine reaction in the eyes will mean scar tissue — and blindness. Special vaccine immune globulin (VIG) contains antibodies against smallpox and Badger Red Cross blood center distributed 131 units throughout the Midwest. The VIG comes from servicemen donors, newly vaccinated against smallpox.

Delta County men and women 18 through 65 are eligible to contribute blood here this week at Gladstone and Escanaba.

For appointment at a time convenient to the donor, individuals are asked to phone the Red Cross mornings 786-3214 or 786-5371.

Heart-Transplant Patient's Stolen Car, Pills Found

DETROIT (AP)—Police have found the car that Donald Kaminski, Michigan's second heart-transplant patient, reported stolen Saturday.

The car was taken while Kaminski was eating a hamburger in a Detroit restaurant. His purebred French poodle, Niki, and two bottles of prescription pills were in the car.

Police found it less than a mile from where it was taken. Kaminski reported the thief traveled about 50 miles and used a quarter-tank of gasoline.

"The engine doesn't run quite as good as it did," Kaminski said, "but the main thing is I got it — and Niki — back."

Carl G. Hogberg

Hogberg Named Vice President By U.S. Steel

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Carl G. Hogberg, a native of Escanaba, has been appointed vice president-international of United States Steel Corp., it was announced by Edgar B. Speer, U.S. Steel president.

Hogberg, who has been president of Orinoco Mining Co., a U.S. Steel subsidiary, succeeds Robert M. Lloyd, who will retire March 31.

In his new post, Hogberg will have responsibility for foreign activities and interests concerning mining and transportation, including raw materials exploration and related matters. He also will have supervision of liaison with such subsidiaries as Orinoco Mining Co., Quebec Cartier Mining Co. and others.

During his career, Hogberg has been recognized often and widely as an authority on steel-making operations as well as the allied fields of mining and metallurgy. He is the author of numerous technical articles, on blast furnace design and operation, which have been published both nationally and internationally. He also holds several patents in this industry area.

Earned Awards

In 1945, he was the recipient of the J. E. Johnson Award of the American Mining and Metallurgical Engineers (AMME). In 1950, he received a Kelly Award from the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers (AISE) for his technical contributions to the steel industry.

Hogberg was born in Escanaba, and graduated from Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, with a

Varnum 'For' Divided Vote On Parochial

MANISTIQUE—Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) today emphasized that he did not vote in favor of parochial proposals considered by the Michigan House of Representatives.

Varnum said he did vote "for" an amendment which would separate parochial from the other portions of the state school aid bill, but still does not favor parochial. The amendment was defeated 54-56.

If approved, the amendment would have divided parochial from the public school bill. Varnum said this is what he favored, letting parochial stand or fall on its own merits.

Briefly Told

All area persons interested in singing the Easter portion of Handel's "Messiah," to be performed on Palm Sunday, are to meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the music room of the Escanaba Area High School.

Cloverland Post 82, American Legion, will meet tonight at 8 in the clubhouse at 928 N. Lincoln Rd.

Delta County Community Concert Board will meet at the House of Ludington on Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 8:30 p.m. instead of the 7:30 p.m. previously announced.

Roger Thorsen, 30, Rte. 2, Rapid River, is listed in good condition this morning at St. Francis Hospital after striking a parked car with his snowmobile early Sunday morning. State Police said Thorsen was attempting to pass several other machines when he collided with the auto.

St. Patrick's Guild will meet at 8 p.m. today in the parish hall. A social hour will follow the business meeting with members of St. Cecilia Circle in charge. The public is invited.

The breaking and entering of the Escanaba Feed Store and the theft of some change was reported to city police this morning. The burglary is under investigation.

Industries Included:

Marinette, Niagara Given Water Pollution Citations

MADISON, Wis. — Pollution abatement orders have been issued to three industries, the city of Marinette and the village of Niagara, all in the Menominee river drainage basin, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced.

This Wisconsin portion of the basin, in Vilas, Florence, Forest and Marinette counties, was surveyed during 1968 by DNR to locate sources of surface water pollution. A hearing on the survey findings was held in Oconto last May 8.

The Menominee basin covers 4,186 acres, of which only 1,510 acres are in Wisconsin. Major tributaries in Wisconsin include the Brule, Pine and Pike rivers. Major sport fishery values, particularly trout and smallmouth bass, are involved in these streams.

Orders were issued to the following:

Anslu Chemical Co., Marinette — This company provides inadequate treatment for industrial wastewater which enters the Menominee River, the DNR said. Under the order, Anslu must, by June 1, submit an engineering report and time schedule for facilities to adequately treat or eliminate all wastewater discharges.

Kimberly-Clark Corp., Niagara — This pulp and paper mill discharges polluting wastes into the Menominee River. It has already submitted plans for construction of treatment facilities. Under the new order, however, the firm must complete construction by Sept.,

1972, of facilities adequate to treat all discharges to a level no greater than 20 pounds of suspended solids per ton of pulp and paper production, and the total daily discharge may not exceed 11,444 pounds.

Further, treatment must meet recommendations of the Lake Michigan Enforcement conference.

Scott Paper Co., Marinette — Some of the spent sulfite liquor coming from this plant is utilized as roadbinder, but other waste is discharged to the Menominee River. By June 1, the company must submit preliminary plans and a time schedule for construction of treatment facilities which will reduce daily discharge to not more than 6,000 pounds of biological oxygen demand (BOD) and 5,000 pounds of suspended solids.

Village of Niagara — Niagara provides primary treatment and disinfection, and has made some progress in solving the problem of excess clear water in its sewage system. However, inadequately treated effluent still enters the Menominee River. By May 1, the village must submit an engineering report and schedule for construction of facilities to provide adequate treatment.

City of Marinette — Primary treatment, and disinfection of effluent, is provided by existing facilities. Plans have been submitted for improvements. However, a part of the city's collection system is of the combined sanitary and storm sewer type, and an excess clear water problem exists. Inadequately treated effluent is discharged into the Menominee River. Under the order, Marinette must complete separation of its sewer system by July, 1977. By Dec. 31, 1972, the city must adequately treat all wastes, including removal of at least 85 per cent of the phosphorus entering the plant. Beginning in November, 1970, annual progress reports must be submitted to DNR.

OLD MEETS NEW — For sentimental reasons the snowmobile may never replace the horse-drawn open sleigh. But for dashing-through-the-snow nothing can beat the snowmobile for get-up-and-go. These trusty winter "sleighs" have grown so popular that manufacturers find it difficult to keep up with the demand for new machines. Snow machines are being used for every kind of winter un including skiing, hunting, fishing, photography, racing, and many others. Fact is, there are a lot of snowmobilers who just love to do nothing but "buzz" their machines around the snow-covered winter landscape.

Population Upswing Problem Continues

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
Finding living space for people instead of parking places for cars may become the big problem of the future. United Nations experts say that if population increases at a two per cent annual rate the number of people in the world will leap from the present 3.6 billion to 4.9 billion by 1985.
Burglars appear to lead safer lives than most criminals. Although burglaries account for 40 per cent of serious crime in the United States, 80 per cent of them are unsolved because of lack of evidence or witnesses.
No one yet has taught a male gorilla to play professional football, but one of these creatures might be developed into an ideal tackle or fullback. Although he stands only about six feet tall, which would probably disqualify him for a career in pro basketball, he weighs 400 pounds or more and has an arm span of eight feet.
Have you a high IQ? It may help you to live longer. A 12-year study of 47 elderly men by the Philadelphia Geriatric Center found that those still alive at 80 were more intelligent than those who had died at an earlier age.
Quotable notables: "Popularity is exhausting. The life of the party almost always winds up in a corner with an overcoat over him."—Wilson Mizner.
Humane on the Range: Cryogenic or "freeze branding" of cattle may replace the traditional way in which ranchers now mark their stock. Instead of a red-hot iron, an iron frozen to minus 70 degrees centigrade is used. It causes no pain and doesn't mar the hide. The hair on the branded area grows in white and increases the visibility of the mark.
Beans to dollars: The popularity of the office coffee break has been a big boon to business. Partly as a result of it, the United States now buys almost half the world's coffee production. The average American now drinks 750 cups a year. The total national bill for the habit: $1 billion annually.
Nuts on Wheels: Many Japanese drive like lunatics because that's what they are. Since the discontinuance in Japan of a requirement that aspirants for a license first pass a psychiatric exam, authorities estimate some 160,000 mentally deranged or drug-addicted people now have obtained the legal right to drive.

Worth remembering: "The best thing about the future is that it only comes one day at a time."
History lesson: Can you name the first U.S. President to broadcast in a foreign tongue? He was Franklin D. Roosevelt, who on Nov. 7, 1942, broadcast a message to the French people in their own language as allied armadas were preparing to land in North African French ports.
You have fewer bones when you reach voting age than you did the day you were born. At birth you probably had 33 bones in your spinal column, but as you matured some of the vertebrae fused, and you wound up with 24. Incidentally, your bones, although they are half water, half solid material, are stronger, pound for pound, than steel.
It was Erasmus who observed, "It is the chiefest point of happiness that a man is willing to be what he is."

New Teachers' Union Formed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leaders of a new union formed from two rival teachers' groups predict that most of the nation's teachers soon will belong to a single, powerful union.
The union will use collective bargaining—says it won't be afraid to strike.
The moderate Association of Classroom Teachers—Los Angeles (ACT-LA) and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers (AFT) Local 1021 merged Sunday into the United Teachers—Los Angeles (UT) after members of both organizations voted overwhelmingly to unite.
The union, representing about 21,000 of Los Angeles' 26,000 teachers, will have ties with the AFL-CIO. President Robert Ransom says he expects the merger to push the chapter's United Teachers parent organizations—the federation and the National Educational Association (NEA)—into national merger talks.
National NEA and AFT leaders are said to favor a national merger.
Ransom said organization leaders have not yet mapped definite demands to be made on the school board. He denied the merger makes a strike of Los Angeles teachers more likely this spring.
The Los Angeles unification proved two rival teachers groups can come together, Ransom said. The association for many years frowned on collective bargaining and strikes.
"The Los Angeles vote is proof positive that teachers are sick and tired of organizational wrangling," he said. "They appreciate and want the advantages and strength that unity makes possible."

TAKE HEED — Participating drivers in the Rapid River weekend event stand together to hear racing rules and instructions from director Jim Lund of the USSA. Over 115 drivers from all over the Midwest raced during the two days of snowmobile excitement. Thanks to good sportsmanship and courteous driving only two drivers were injured during the 27 different race events held over the weekend. Top area drivers racing at Rapid River included Bob Heynnessens, Don Bugay, Mike VanDamme, Dave St. Onge, Stan Gerou, Don Prunick and Ron Curtiss. (Daily Press Photo)

Halt Of DC-9s In Wintertime Asked By Pilots

The use by North Central Airlines of 100-passenger DC-9 jet planes at Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Marquette should be discontinued "during the winter seasons," says Wendell K. Howell, safety chairman for the Detroit area of the Air Line Pilots Association.

The report by Howell, dated Dec. 18, 1969, presumably will be directed to the attention of state and federal aviation authorities.

The City of Escanaba became aware of the recommendation only recently and informed municipal and Delta County officials of the development which could affect future wintertime airport operations in the three cities.

At all three airports there is criticism of the inadequate snow removal and ice control, and there is specific criticism of deficiencies at each airport.

Of the Escanaba airport, Howell reports:

- "There is a drainage ditch at the west end that would undoubtedly wipe off the landing gear in an overrun to the west. Braking conditions reports by the North Central Station have been accurate and reliable."

- "Station personnel at Escanaba have not been trained nor is the station equipped to overnight a DC-9. When conditions do not permit operation into Marquette, Flight 347 must return to Green Bay."

- "Snow removal and ice control is done by the City of Escanaba, necessitating considerable advance notice which is not usually accomplished when there is an overnight snowfall."

The responsibility for a decision on whether DC-9 operation will or will not be continued is presumably that of North Central Airlines.

City Manager George Harvey notes that he has been advised by Fire Chief Palmer Derouin that the fire protection at the Escanaba city airport "is a common deficiency found at most airport facilities in the Upper Peninsula."

The city provides ground fire protection which is all that is now required under federal regulations, although there is some delay "because of the running time to the airport from either of our fire stations," said Chief Derouin.

There is a need for updating fire protection for the whole community, however, and "Escanaba is in dire need of a new ladder truck," said the chief.

Meanwhile the DC-9 service by North Central, sought after by Escanaba, Marquette and Iron Mountain, is continuing. Escanaba's experience has been costly in maintaining the runway this winter to the higher standards the jet planes require.

for a veteran snowmobiler from Newberry. Ray Knauf, who has won prize money in several snowmobile derbies in the Upper Peninsula and Northern Lower Michigan this winter, won a total of $210 in prize money in winning three modified races and finishing second in another.

Knauf, driving for the Polaris factory team, won the modified Class 3 and 4 drag races on Saturday, captured the modified Class 3 oval race on Sunday and added a second in the modified Class 4 oval competition.

A crowd estimated at 6,000 fans turned out for the oval races Sunday — a program which featured superb driving by grand prize co-winners Stan Gerou and Dave St. Onge and a flip by Knauf.

Knauf, driving a Polaris 638 cc. machine, was heading into the south turn neck and neck with Bob Heynnessens of Escanaba when the two machines sideswiped each other in the tight turn causing Knauf to flip over. Heynnessens went on to take the race, and Knauf jumped back on his machine and captured second.

During the two days of racing only two drivers were injured despite several flips in Saturday's cross country race and again on bumpy sections of the oval course Sunday.

A total of 119 machines were entered in the two day competition. Over 60 machines were entered in Sunday's oval races after about 58 turned out for Saturday's drags and cross country run.

Mike VanDamme of Cornell, driving a high-powered Ski-Doo turned in the fastest time on the 12 mile cross country course which carried drivers across the ice on Little Bay de Noc, back up the Rapid River, through the woods and across the finish line.

VanDamme covered the grueling distance in 21 minutes, 18 seconds to barely nudge out Heynnessens who finished a close second. Heynnessens lost valuable time at the beginning of the cross country when he failed to start with the other racers.

Don Bugay, a veteran racer from Gladstone, was all alone at the end of the modified Class 5 cross country race, leaving Dave Polter somewhere out on the bay. Bugay's time was 23 minutes, two seconds.

Bugay, who has won numerous snowmobile races this year also captured first place trophies and prize money in the modified Class 5 oval race and Class D stock oval race on Sunday and a second place in the modified Class 5 drag finals held Saturday.

Sharing the grand prize money of $300 were Stan Gerou of Munising and Dave St. Onge who both totaled 24 points in the two days of competitive racing.

Gerou drove his speedy machine to victory in Saturday's Class C stock cross country and Class C stock drags. He also finished second in the modified Class 2 drags. On Sunday, Gerou took the Class C oval stock race, and came on to take second modified Class 2 oval for his total of 24 points.

St. Onge outraced Gerou twice in head to head battles while winning the modified Class 2 oval Sunday. St. Onge also swept up a victory in the modified Class 2 cross country race on Saturday.

Injured while racing were Mike Booth of Munising and Roger Stano of Gwinn. They were injured during Saturday's cross country feature.

According to race officials, Booth failed to negotiate a tight corner and struck a tree while coming off the bay into a wooded area. He is listed in fair condition this morning at St. Francis Hospital where he is being treated for a broken nose, two fractured cheeks bones and a broken jaw.

Stano was hurt when his foot caught in his track causing him to lose control and hit a tree, race officials reported. He was taken to St. Francis by ambulance, treated and released.

The second annual race was termed a great success by race officials. Over 9,000 persons watched the races over the weekend. A grand total of $2,350 was handed out to prize winners.

Jim Lund of Antigo, Wis., served as race director for the USSA. Drivers indicated they were generally pleased with the course, although many criticized the tight south turn on the oval.

FASTEST — Don Bugay, Mike VanDamme and Bob Heynnessens, left to right, recorded the fastest times Saturday over the 12 mile cross country run. Bugay captured the modified Class 5 race in 23 minutes, two seconds; while VanDamme beat Heynnessens by two seconds in the modified Class 4 duel with a time of 21 minutes, 18 seconds. All three veteran drivers placed high in their other individual races during the two days of high speed snowmobiling at the Rapid River track. (Daily Press Photo)

OVAL START — The biggest and fastest of the snowmobile racing machines line up prior to the start of the modified Class 5 oval race held Sunday at the Rapid River ball diamond course. Don Bugay, driving a Ski-Doo, streaked to victory in the event for the second year in a row. Don also took two other first places during the two day event. The second annual Rapid River races were directed by Jim Lund of Antigo, Wis. (Daily Press Photo)

COLLISION — A tight course at the start of Saturday's cross country races caught several drivers by surprise. This driver escaped injury when his machine flipped after hitting some "rough" snow alongside the cross country course. "When you were in a heat with four or five other machines that first turn got a little tight," said one veteran racer who sideswiped another machine during the first hundred yards of a cross country feature. The driver in the picture, however, got up, scrambled to his machine and finished the race. (Daily Press Photo)

CROSS COUNTRY START — Three drivers tear away from the starting line during Saturday's modified Class 4 cross country race. That snowmobile still sitting back at the starting line belongs to Bob Heynnessens of Escanaba who, believe it or not, finally got started and finished second in the heat a close two seconds behind Mike VanDamme (third from the left). Who knows what might have happened if Heynnessens decided to start with the rest of the racers. (Daily Press Photo)

INSTANT REPAIR — This snow racer on an Arctic Cat had to make some quick repair work on his machine prior to one of the weekend races at Rapid River. Replacing a bad cleat can be quite a job when you only have a few minutes to do it. But everyone pitched in to help this snowmobiler, and when the race started he was ready. (Daily Press Photo)

INJURED DRIVER — Mike Booth of Munising holds his broken nose while being lifted into an ambulance for a trip to St. Francis Hospital. Booth also suffered a broken jaw and two fractured cheek bones when his snow racer failed to negotiate a curve and he hit a tree. The accident occurred during one of the 12 mile cross country races held Saturday. Booth is listed in fair condition this morning at the hospital. (Daily Press Photo)

Norsemen Notch Second Victory Of Cage Season

Basketball was originated at Bay de Noc Community College last year and victories have not come easy in the past two seasons, but Saturday night at the Gladstone High School gym, the Norsemen knocked off the University of Wisconsin-Marquette for their second victory of the season.

The 100-72 victory gave the Norsemen a 2-6 record for the season with one game remaining and it was the first time in the existence of the Bay College team that they have scored 100 points.

A new school scoring record was also established in the game by Steve Fisher, a former star at Holy Name High School. Fisher threw in 11 field goals and eight free throws for 30 points to break the old mark of 26 set last season by Jim Boyle and Len Welling.

The Norsemen never trailed in Saturday night's game, leading 43-39 at halftime and outscoring their opponents 57-33 in the final 20 minutes. They made 37 of 87 field goal attempts, including an 11 for 18 performance by Fisher, and were 26 of 38 from the free throw line.

Bay College also held a 68-32 advantage over the Marquette quint in the rebounding department with Steve Miketina leading the way here with 17 rebounds while Fisher had 15 and Mike Sigfrids helped out with 12.

In addition to Fisher, other Norsemen scoring in double figures were Mark Weber with 20 points, Sigfrids with 19 and Tom Boyle with 13.

Jim Schultz and Russ Roland were the only University of Wisconsin-Marquette players to hit double figures with 23 and 21 points respectively. Fifteen of Schultz's points came at the free throw line.

The Norsemen will close out the 1969-70 basketball season Thursday evening at the Gladstone High School gymnasium at 7:30 against Suomi College.

Suomi has only been beaten once this season and it is ranked eighth in the Region 13 college basketball ratings.

Brown Captures Prize In San Diego Tourney

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Pete Brown, a one-time polio victim who learned his golf on the formula of "play three holes and run," was given a second chance by Tony Jacklin and Jack Nicklaus and ran right into the biggest payday of his life.

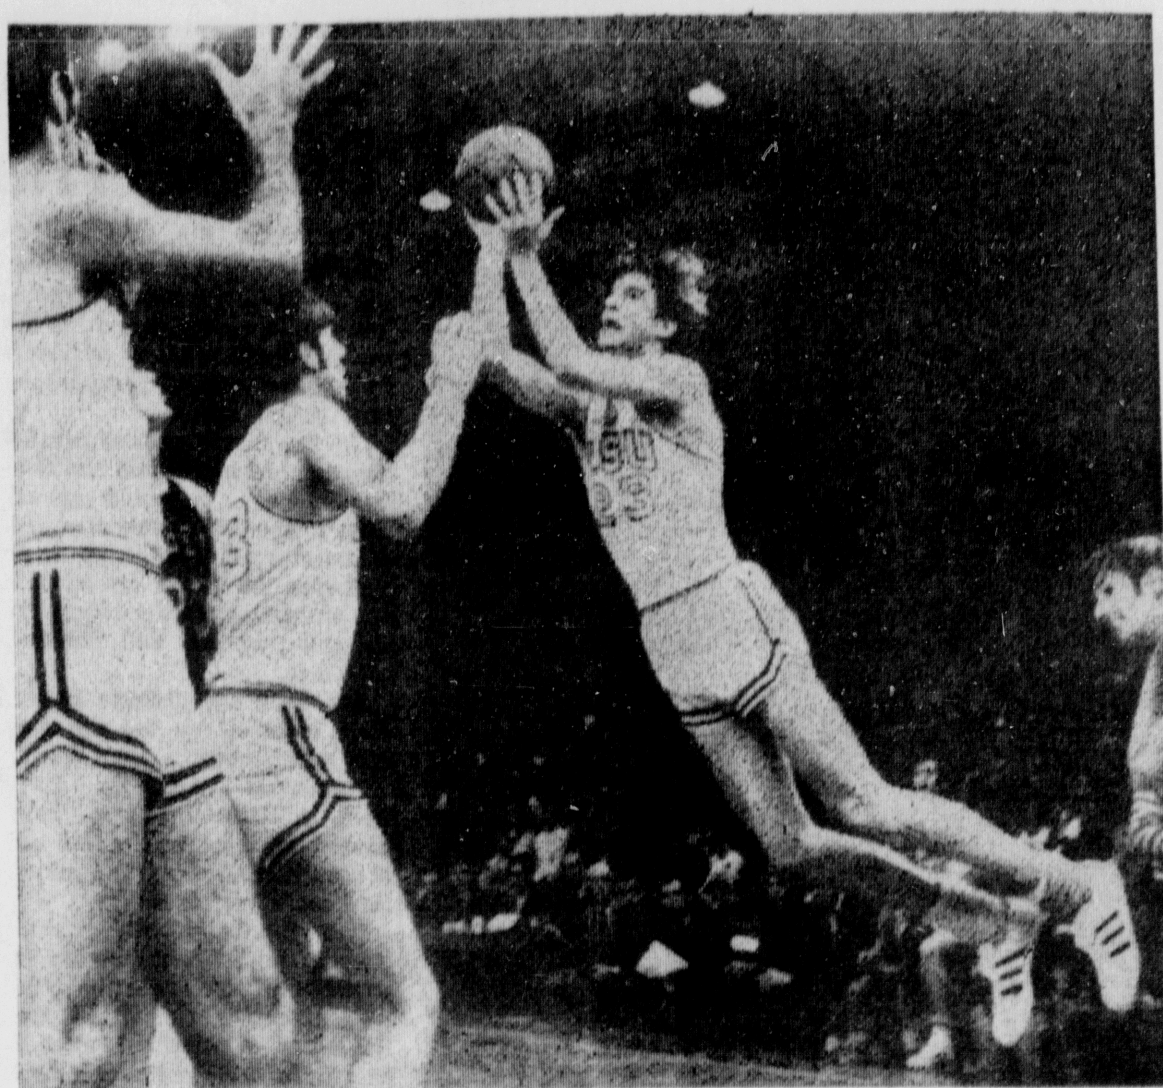

"I choked," the soft-spoken Brown said Sunday after missing a four-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole that would have given him the title outright in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

But he conquered the growing pressure that built while he waited for Jacklin and Nicklaus to play the 501-yard, par-five final hole, then won a sudden-death playoff for his second title in a 17-year pro career.

Nicklaus, the leader or co-leader through the first three rounds, and Jacklin needed birdies on the final hole to tie Nicklaus was short in two, chipped close and missed a four-foot putt.

"I was jumping around in his line and waving my arms," Brown joked.

Jacklin put a three-wood just on the back fringe in two, putted from 12 feet and missed. He tapped in for a bird.

Fourth Quarter Comeback Puts Knicks Over Pistons

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Pistons took a big bow on national television Sunday—to the New York Knicks, 117-111.

In other National Basketball Association play, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Philadelphia 76ers 113-112. Seattle upset Milwaukee 118-116. Chicago topped Cincinnati 115-108. San Francisco trounced Boston 123-105 and Phoenix nipped San Diego 105-103.

It was the fourth loss in five games for the Pistons who led the Knicks by 14 points in the third quarter. It was the eighth straight win for New York, the Eastern Division leaders.

A fourth quarter blitz by Knicks Dave DeBusschere and Cazzie Russell knocked the wind out of Detroit. DeBusschere hit four straight shots, Cazzie netted seven and Mike Riordan added five more points in the belated runaway.

The Pistons seemed hot enough in the first half with Jimmy Walker scoring 18 and Dave Bing 13 points plus nine assists.

But the Knicks press unhinged Detroit in the final stretch.

Elgin Baylor scored 33 points and Jerry West hit a pair of foul shots to clinch Los Angeles' eighth straight win. Baylor helped gun the Lakers from 18 points behind in the second quarter to a 111-110 lead, then West sank his foul shots with only two seconds left to play.

Seattle dropped Milwaukee seven games behind New York when Barry Clemens sank a jump shot with 21 seconds left. Tom Meschery sparked the Sonics with 27 points. Milwaukee got 33 from Flynn Robinson and 31 from Bob Dandridge.

Chicago's Bob Love hit two free-throws with less than two minutes left to clinch the win over Cincinnati. Chet Walker topped Chicago with 30 points and Love added 25. Johnny Green led Cincinnati with 27.

San Francisco's Jeff Mullins fired in 31 points to pace the rout over Boston. After the game, Boston General Manager Red Auerbach said every Celtic except Tom Sanders and Emmette Bryant would be fined "a sizeable sum."

Phoenix built up an 82-69 lead at the end of three quarters and then held on to edge San Diego, Connie Hawkins topped Phoenix with 24 points and Elvin Hayes hit 32 for San Diego.

Maravich Hits 53 Points To Break Scoring Record

By The Associated Press

Drooping socks, flopping hair and all, college basketball's crown prince was holding court.

Pete Maravich glided through helpless Mississippi with the greatest of ease, his regal form twitching toward the basket in front on The Goal.

Then the roar of the crowd rolled down from the stratosphere of the Louisiana State University Coliseum as the LSU wonder boy cracked Oscar Robertson's career scoring record Saturday night.

"He was superb," exulted Coach Press Maravich after watching his panther-lean son score 53 points to give him 2,987 for his career—wiping out Robertson's 2,973.

Maravich gave the arena-rattling crowd of 11,000 a happy ending as the Tigers toppled Ole Miss 109-66 in one of the top games in an otherwise upset-studded Saturday.

Vanderbilt shocked second-ranked Kentucky 89-81; Loyola of Chicago upset seventh-ranked Marquette 76-72 and Notre Dame surprised 10th-rated Illinois 86-83.

Elsewhere, top-rated UCLA raced to its 16th victory without a defeat this year by clouting Stanford 102-84; third-ranked St. Bonaventure beat Niagara, 89-81; No. 4 South Carolina stopped Duke 67-55; No. 8 North Carolina clubbed Clemson 119-87 and No. 9 North Carolina tripped Maryland 77-69.

A Maravich one-hander from 23 feet out, a typical arching missile, with 4:43 left in the game pushed him past Robertson and triggered a spillover from the stands.

"Look, we've still got to finish the game," he pleaded, pointing to the game clock as teammates hoisted him aloft.

"Making that shot?" Maravich parroted a newsmen's query. "Well, I think it was the greatest honor for me."

Maravich said he may have been pressing after tying Robertson's mark with his 38th point. He missed four shots in a row.

"I was off balance on a few of those shots," said the tousled-hair Maravich, famous for playing with ill-fitting socks.

Vanderbilt Coach Roy Skinner said it was the Commodores' "ability to cut off Kentucky's fast break" that toppled the tough Wildcats.

"It was a magnificent effort," he said.

Tom Arnold scored 28 points for Vanderbilt and Dan Issel led Kentucky with 26. The defeat spilled the Wildcats from first place in the Southeastern Conference.

Notre Dame's Austin Carr rifled in 36 points as the Irish whipped Illinois in the second game of a doubleheader at the Chicago Coliseum. Ball-stealing Chicago of Loyola, with five players hitting in double figures, stole the opener from Marquette.

UCLA remained the only unbeaten team in the Top Ten with its victory over Stanford; Bob Lanier scored 22 points to lead St. Bonaventure over arch-rival Niagara; South Carolina built an unassailable, 15-point halftime lead to conquer Duke; North Carolina State just ran Clemson off the floor and North Carolina 109-93 in other games.

Carolina came back from a 17-point first half deficit to down upstart Maryland.

Wake Forest shaded No. 11 Davidson 74-73; Utah State set No. 12 Houston 91-84; Wisconsin turned back No. 13 Ohio U. 91-84; 14th-ranked Penn State Cornell 64-63; No. 15 Iowa State took California 73-73; No. 16 Drake defeated Missouri State 82-76; Columbia, No. 17, blasted Princeton 75-72; Florida State, No. 18, whacked Virginia Tech 83-73; No. 19 Kansas squeaked by Missouri 61-63; 20th-rated Iowa whipped Indiana 109-93 in other games.

Red Wings Edge Oakland Skaters

By The Associated Press

The California sun must agree with the Detroit Red Wings who swept their California visit Sunday night with a 3-2 win over the Oakland Seals.

In other National Hockey League action, New York blanked Pittsburgh 6-0, Montreal took Philadelphia 5-2 and Chicago beat Minnesota 7-4, and Boston topped Toronto 7-6.

Detroit knocked off Oakland on a power play by Bruce MacLellan with about three minutes left in the game. The win, achieved on goals in the final seven and one half minutes by Pete Stelmowski and MacGregor, kept the Wings in fourth place in the East Division, three points ahead of Chicago.

Ex-Red Wing Bert Marshall put the Seals ahead 2-1 with about 12 minutes gone in the final period but Stelmowski hit back 80 seconds later to tie it.

A power play with Nick Libbert centering the puck for MacGregor who tipped in the winning Wings' goal.

The New York Rangers bunched four goals in the final period to wrap up their victory over the Penguins. The triumph kept New York three points up on both Boston and Montreal in the tight East Division race.

The Canadiens were trailing 3-

1 in the third period at Philadelphia when they rallied. Mickey Redmond tied the score with just over seven minutes left and then Ralph Backstrom's second goal of the night gave Montreal the lead. Backstrom scored again for a hat trick in the final seconds.

The Boston Bruins blew a 4-1 lead and then a 6-4 edge before John McKenzie's power play goal in the third period gave them their win over Toronto.

The game was interrupted by a second period brawl with both benches emptying to join in the melee.

It was the eighth straight loss of the Minnesota North Stars who have won only one of their last 23 games but remain in fourth place in the West Division.

School Survey Response Light

The results of a second survey to determine how citizens feel about existing school programs, possible future expansion projects and other related school concerns have been tabulated.

The survey was authorized by the Board of Education Advisory Committee and questionnaires were sent to 1,227 registered voters on Manistique's east side. Only 110 persons, or nine per cent, returned completed survey blanks.

The survey dissection points out that "the return is so small that it is extremely dangerous to attempt to draw any hard and fast conclusions" about the results. An earlier and similar survey to Hiawatha Township residents also produced only a minimal response.

"Are you generally satisfied with the quality of education that the children are receiving?" showed 16 per cent "very well satisfied;" 47 per cent "satisfied;" 29 per cent "about half and half;" four per cent "very much dissatisfied;" and 11 per cent "no answer."

"How do you feel about teacher pay?" indicated three per cent "much too little;" 10 per cent "too little;" 64 per cent "about right;" 15 per cent "too much;" three per cent "much too much;" and 14 per cent "don't know or no answer."

Forty-four per cent said "no" they would not support a tax increase to help pay for improved programs in junior high, vocational education, home economics, band and physical education while 36 per cent said "yes" they would and 26 per cent had no opinion or did not answer.

These improvements were recently recommended by the Advisory Committee to the Area board of education.

The school district's greatest problem was thought to be finances, spending, taxing and the tax base by 20 of the 110 persons replying while 11 noted community support and communications.

Other areas receiving criticism included the administration and staff, the school board, too much leisure time for students, lack of moral leadership, discipline, buildings and space.

Commenting on strong and weak points in existing programs, 11 persons rated vocational education as a weak point, six though it a strong point while three persons rated it as the "biggest problem facing the school board."

High school strong points listed by several included college prep, biology, staff, band, civics and/or social studies, English and science.

Weak points in the high school program included math, chemistry, foreign language, vocal music, basics and gym.

There was little comment on Junior High strong points but some listed weak points as scattered programs and basics.

Elementary grade strong points were thought to be basics and the new Lakeside School and, conversely, some thought these were weak points.

Scattered comments were received on report cards and the need for a Lakeside School gym or multi-purpose room.

Of the 110 persons responding to the survey, 57 were women and 46 were men, with seven unidentified. The greatest response came from both men and women in the 40-59 age bracket.

DOES HE WANT another piece of cake and cup of coffee or would he prefer to just relax and watch television? These were the decisions Public Safety Director Joe McDonough had to make Saturday afternoon during his "kidnap" sojourn with Girl Scouts of Troop 81. Solicitude is obvious in the faces of Scouts Becky Lambert, Kathy Bradley and Debbie Lambert as they hover over their "hostage". (Daily Press Photo)

McDonough Freed After 'Ransom' Paid

Everything went well Saturday when Senior Service Scouts of Troop 81 "kidnaped" Public Safety Director Joe McDonough and held him for "ransom."

The officers at headquarters chuckled as McDonough was "abducted" from the station and whisked away to wait out a "ransom" demand—all part of the Girl Scouts' plan to publicize a fund-raising drive they're starting so they can attend a "Lookout" Conference in Grand Rapids next month.

Manistique residents cooperated by telephoning "ransom" pledges to help free the police chief. In keeping with the Scout pledge to render community service, the pledges will be exchanged for IOU's at a bake sale the girls will sponsor.

McDonough spent his "captive" hours watching the Georgia Tech-Air Force basketball game on color television at the home of Scout leader Mrs. John Wilson and discussing sports with State Police Trooper Wilson, a willing conspirator with the Scouts and their "kidnap" plan.

The girls further eased the situation by serving cake and coffee during the afternoon.

Since their troop was organized in the fall of 1968, the senior high girls of Troop 81 have been active in community service.

Among their contributions have been entertainment and refreshments to patients at the Medical Care Facility the past two Christmas holidays; acting as guides at the Arts and Crafts Fair last spring; serving as program aides for Day Camp and as junior leaders for three Girl Scout and Brownie Troops; helping during the annual Scout Rally Day activities; ushering at a Peninsula Waters Council meet in Marquette; attending a Civil Defense Atomic Survival Course.

Some of their "fun and learning" activities include a bake sale and "slave day" to finance a Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Scout Conclave; a below-zero camp-out in tents; bowling, tobogganing, cookouts, Halloween and slumber parties.

Georgia Lawmakers Busier Than Usual

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — In this election year, there may be few things Georgia lawmakers publicly favor, but there are several they definitely and loudly oppose—crime, pornography and illegal drugs.

At the rate measures are being dumped into House and Senate hoppers, it would appear that a sizeable number of legislators would like to go home and face the voters armed with an anti-crime, anti-pornography or anti-drug bill and perhaps, all three.

It's as good, perhaps better, than standing up for the flag and motherhood.

Numerous measures have been introduced. Some have passed at least one house and are certain to pass the other. And more are on the way.

The Senate Mental Health Committee is working on a package of 10 anti-drug bills. A subcommittee of the House Education Committee already has made anti-drug recommendations.

Rep. James H. Floyd of Trion, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, wants to earmark a portion of the funds destined for the Georgia Bureau of Investigation to finance a 25-man narcotics squad.

Rep. Quimby Melton Jr. of Griffin, already has pushed his pet bills through the House. One would levy a $5,000 state tax on any piece of pornography sold in Georgia. Thus, a "dirty" book would cost the price of the book plus $5,000.

Two other Melton measures passed by the House would per-

Fire Kills Baby

FLINT (AP) — A 6-month-old Flint child was killed Sunday in a fire in her home. Her two brothers, aged two and one-half and three and one-half years, escaped without injury.

Authorities identified the dead child as Andrea Brown.

Police said there was no adult in the home at the time of the fire. The two older children were rescued when police were called by neighbors.

Andrea was alive when taken to a hospital, but died shortly after arrival.

Youth Group May Lose Headquarters

DETROIT (AP) — Lack of money may force the closing of Open City, a group of young people trying to build a "community" of problem-solvers in the Wayne State University area.

"We're literally bankrupt and we won't be able to stay open this spring unless we get a great deal of money," says Harvey Ovshinsky, an Open City founder.

The group needs $5,000 cash and firm pledges for another $5,000 to expand their organization, in operation about a year, Ovshinsky says.

Their services include a free medical clinic staffed by doctors and nurses, a co-operative store, a free university and free counseling for students and the poor in the area.

$100,000 Damage

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — The Ottawa County Sheriff's Department says estimated $100,000 in damage was done to a boat storage building and its contents when it collapsed from the weight of ice and snow.

The collapse, which occurred some time in the past two weeks, was discovered this weekend, deputies said.

The building was owned by the Furniture City Boat Club.

Gladstone News

Briefly Told

August Mattson Post American Legion will hold a regular meeting at the Club rooms at 7:30 p.m. today.

Gladstone Police issued traffic summonses over the weekend to Daniel D. Druding, 1323 Dakota Ave., driving left of center; Linda S. Dillabough, 419 Delta Ave., failure to report a property damage accident; Joseph W. Abb, 1009 3rd Ave. N., Escanaba, speeding.

Several juveniles have been cited to Probate Court by Gladstone police for violation of city's snowmobile ordinance. Officers said the youngsters were picked up while driving snowmobiles on city streets in violation of the provisions of the ordinance.

U-M's Frosh 'Hermit' Likes Living Outdoors

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Henry David Thoreau went to the woods because he wished to be alone.

University of Michigan freshman David Hoover went to the woods because he likes it.

When Hoover, an 18-year-old natural resources school student from Taylorville, Ill., came to the university last August, he decided to take up residence in the woods near the college town.

"You ask me why I live out here," said Hoover. "There, look at that chickadee. That's why."

"I don't know whether animals can be happy or not, but they make me happy," he added. "Things are always fine and happy out there."

Hoover has weathered sub-zero temperatures in his tent this winter. He rides his bicycle each day to classes and maintains a B-plus average.

His survival equipment is minimal — two footlockers, a couple of 10-gallon water cans, a battery-powered radio, a few changes of clothes, six blankets, snowshoes and a roll of toilet paper.

"I get lonely sometimes," he said. "Not because I live here but because of people. The only things people usually say are, 'My name is, I'm studying so-and-so.' With me it's different. They always say, 'Don't you get cold?'"

As Hoover spoke, he wore only a short-sleeved shirt. The day was one of the balmiest of the winter—46 degrees.

"I had a couple of girls up for dinner when the weather was warmer," he said. "But a girl would be foolish to get mixed up with me unless she wanted to spend the rest of her life in a tent."

State Political Party Sets Meet

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Dissident members of Michigan's American Independent Party plan to hold a convention in Lansing Feb. 27-March 1.

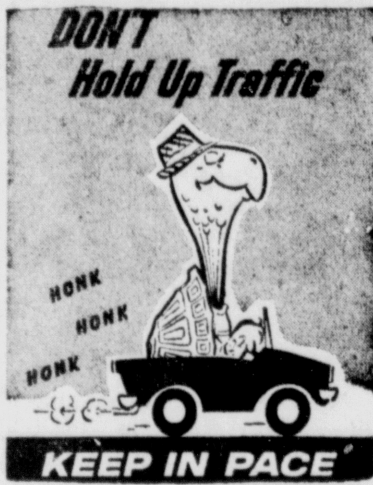

Neal E. Bradley of Kalamazoo, a spokesman for the dissident State Committee of County Chairmen, announced the selection of Lansing for the convention which will determine candidates for the state's elections this year.

Bradley said party leaders from 20 counties have accepted invitations to the sessions already. However, he declined to estimate the total number of delegates who will attend.

The committee to which Bradley belongs has accused party leaders and James E. Hall, the state central committee chairman, of failing to provide proper leadership.

Duster has a bigger engine

Duster's standard 125 hp Six dusts off Maverick's standard engine by 20 big horses. Even beats Maverick's only optional engine by 5. And if you want performance, you can go all the way up to 340 cubic inches with Duster. No Maverick can match that.

Duster has a longer wheelbase

Duster's 108 inch wheelbase is a full 5 inches longer than Maverick's. In overall length, Duster has 9 more inches. Add Duster's extra 352 lbs., and the result is a smoother ride, and more stable handling.

Duster has a 5-year/50,000-mile power train warranty... Maverick doesn't.

Chrysler Corporation warrants against defects in materials or workmanship to the first registered owner only, and will repair or replace without charge for parts or labor at any authorized Imperial, Chrysler, Plymouth or Dodge dealership, the engine block, head and all internal engine parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and all internal transmission parts, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential of its 1970 Duster for 5 years or 50,000 miles and all other parts for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first, excluding only tires, normal deterioration due to wear and exposure, normal maintenance services and parts used in connection with such services, repairs required as a result of accident, abuse, negligence, racing, or failure to perform recommended maintenance services. Warranty repairs should be obtained from selling dealer unless he has ceased to do business as an authorized Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer, or the owner is traveling or has moved to a different locality and cannot return to his selling dealer.

Compare price for comparably equipped cars

	Duster	Maverick

†Radio—AM	61.55	61.00
†Wheel Covers	21.30	26.00
†A majority of people equip their cars with these items.	$2,456.75*	$2,366.00*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for standard Duster 2-Door Coupe—and standard Maverick 2-Door Sedan equipped with items listed including Federal excise tax. Price excludes dealer preparation charge, state and local taxes, destination charges and other optional equipment.

Duster has a bigger trunk

A lot bigger trunk. 15 cubic feet for Duster, only 10.4 cubic feet for Maverick. Just because a car is small on the outside doesn't mean it has to be small on the inside.

Duster has bigger brakes

Bigger brakes mean more stopping power, and Duster's got it. Effective brake lining area for Duster: 153.4 sq. inches. For Maverick: only 106.0 inches. And if you like disc brakes or power brakes, Duster offers those too. Maverick doesn't.
